Moisture Muddies Mizzou

More Yet to Come, Says Weatherman, After Welcome Break In Long Dry Spell

KANSAS CITY (AP)—A variety of moisture fell in Missouri today and the weatherman thinks there will be more to come.

The precipitation ranged from showers leaving more than 2 inches in parts of southern Missouri to drizzle and mist in other sections.

West Plains had 2.11 inches. Malden reported 1.47 and Springfield .81.

Reason for the moisture is a stationary cold front running from North Carolina through the Texas Panhandle. Also on the weather map is a weak low pressure center in New Mexico which is expected to move into Missouri, bringing more showers.

As a result the forecast for the state calls for rain and drizzle today and most of the state tonight, with scattered thunderstorms south and west this afternoon or tonight. Thursday will be mostly cloudy with showers ending in the west in the morning and over the state by evening.

Rainfall amounts were scattered. Chillicothe reported only .02 of an inch at 6:30 a. m. but at 10 a. m. a brisk shower fell from a sky so dark that electronically controlled street lights went on and motorists had to wear their headlights.

The heavier rains were general over southeastern and southern Missouri. The two-day total at Poplar Bluff measured 1.31 and that at Clearwater Lake, 1.37. The total for the year to date at Poplar Bluff is 9.77, about two inches under normal for the period.

Mist was reported at Jefferson City, Columbia and St. Louis. St. Joseph had a light fall during the night, but .22 of an inch fell there this morning, bringing the total to .26.

Other rainfall reports in the state included: Glasgow .34, Napoleon .20, Lexington .17, Booneville .15, Joplin .14, Macon .09 and Farmington .08.

West Plains, one of the hardest hit in the drought area, welcomed the rain. Two large nearby lakes were overflowing. All ponds were reported full and the new ones virtually full.

A pond building program has been in full swing in Howell County since the drought hit. Farms which had only one or two ponds now have four and five.

Farmers, discouraged over prospects earlier, delayed field work. But recent rains sent them into the fields so that the oats crop was in the ground when the last rain came.

The 2.11 inch soaker for the 24-hour period ending this morning, brought the West Plains total for the year to above the normal 10.56 for January, February and March.

However, along with the optimism there were skeptics. They pointed out that last year the city got .39 for the first three months in the year.

The series of chain thunderstorms which released showers in northwest Missouri this morning, resulted in a .61 of an inch fall at Maryville. The storm reduced visibility to an eighth of a mile. Earlier this month that area had 34 of an inch.

Burglar Is Foiled At Montserrat Store

A would-be burglar was foiled early Tuesday morning in an attempt to rob a store operated by Howard "Buck" Draper in Montserrat when the proprietor discovered him and shot at him with a revolver.

Draper, who lives in the store building, told Sheriff Alex Nichols, of Warrensburg, he was awakened between 12:30 and 1 o'clock that morning, and discovered a man walking toward the outside door with some merchandise, mostly cigarettes, in his arms.

Draper got his revolver and fired two shots at the man, both missing. The burglar ran to a waiting automobile, in which another man was sitting, and drove off. As he ran, the intruder dropped the merchandise, and Sheriff Nichols said, apparently nothing was missing.

We Want More

I guess we're piggyish, but we'd take more rain, please, Mr. Weatherman. What we have had has been nice, but don't be so polite with these small helpings. Pass the kettle.

Light rain or drizzle tonight, ending Thursday morning; warmer tonight, low in the upper 40s.

The temperature at 7 a. m. was 41; 70 at 1 p. m., and 71 at 2 p. m. Rainfall .04 inch.

One year ago today high 53, low 36. Two years ago high 54, low 23. Three years ago high 54, low 23. Note how close the figures run for the three years, two having exactly the same high and low and the third high figure just one degree off the others.

Stage at Lake of the Ozarks: 43.8, steady.

Tornado Warning

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—The U. S. Weather Bureau here issued the following severe weather bulletin at 1:54 p. m.

"A few tornadoes are possible from 3 p. m. to midnight (CST) along a line 50 miles north-northwest of Ardmore, Okla., to 20 miles north of Fayetteville, Ark., and extending 100 miles northwest of this line."

Pettis, Benton Bankers Elect C. L. Carter

Sedalia Banker Heads Two County Group for Year

Clarence L. Carter, vice-president and cashier of the Sedalia Bank and Trust Company, was elected president of the Benton and Pettis Counties Bankers Association at the quarterly meeting of that organization Tuesday at the Old Missouri Homestead.

Other officers elected are: Glenn R. Lehman, cashier of the Farmers Bank at Lincoln, vice-president, and J. E. Norlin, vice-president and cashier of the Union Savings Bank in Sedalia, secretary-treasurer.

The speaker of the event was Bror W. Unge, manager of the foreign department of the City National Bank and Trust Company, Kansas City, who spoke on "The Economic and Political Conditions in Europe."

Mr. Unge, a widely traveled man, who speaks several languages and has an understanding of the problems of other countries, gave a very informative talk on the present political conditions in other countries and their needs. He made a plea for all people of America to support the policies of the government that the American way of life may continue.

A resolution was adopted in tribute to the late S. O. Brill, president of the Farmers Bank of Lincoln, who for a long term of years was an active member of the association.

Special guests for the occasion were Harold Kullman, assistant cashier of the First National Bank, St. Louis, and James Mack, assistant vice-president of the City National Bank, Kansas City.

Banking personnel and their families at the banquet numbered about 60.

Claims Army Infiltration Is Overrated

'Talk Has Built Up Issue Far Larger Than It Really Is'

WASHINGTON (AP)—Chairman Saltonstall (R-Mass.) of the Senate Armed Services Committee asserted today that the question of Communist infiltration in the armed forces has been built up to something "far larger than it really is."

Saltonstall made the statement after his committee had questioned officials of the Army, Navy and Air Force on the problem of Communist infiltration.

Sen. McCarthy (R-Wis.) has said that Communists have been "codified" in the Army.

Without making any reference to McCarthy, Saltonstall asserted: "As one who has served and as a parent whose children have served, I shared the disbelief and the resentment felt by millions that there were either significant numbers of Americans whose loyalty was not in our finest tradition, or that disloyalty was being coded by the very uniforms whose heroic sacrifices in Korea have spoken so eloquently."

The Massachusetts senator said the hearings had shown that "we are talking about a mere handful as against the millions who have served this country with honor, inspiring patriotism and devotion."

"It is plain," Saltonstall said, "that extraneous factors have made this problem far larger than it really is."

The life membership certificate and card was presented to Dr. Holdren by Harold Barrick, president of the club. In receiving it, Dr. Holdren said he was very glad he was able to take a life membership because it is with this membership that another Optimist Club will be formed somewhere, and it is worth it if it helps at least one boy. Dr. Holdren said he has two boys of his own and if they should ever need help he would like to think that someone would help them.

The speaker, Joe Causino, known as Uncle Joe, who for the past 25 years has built Brotherhood Clubs, helped in rehabilitation, employment, counseling, servicemen, leadership interpretation and sports, paid high tribute to one of the members of the Sedalia Optimist Club, Jerry Trotter. Jerry had been a Golden Glove champion under him in St. Louis and he said Jerry was always a champion, and always an optimist. "He was born an optimist."

In speaking of boys, he called them future leaders. "God's greatest gift is our youth," he said, watch.

The following day, state police found a snub-nosed 38-caliber pistol on the street in Centralia, less than a block from the railroad station. The robber, according to witnesses, left the train there and hopped into a gray Pontiac with a woman driver.

Despite roadblocks around the area, the car disappeared. But the gun, State Patrol Capt. C. M. Parker said today, provided this lead:

It was scratched where it struck the pavement but otherwise was in such good condition it appeared new. It was fully loaded and had not been fired recently, and so could not have been the gun used in the robbery.

But it appeared to be the weapon of a man who kept it in good condition as a fine tool—a railroad man might treat his

Optimists Have Busy Day With Honors for Cagers, Life Membership for Holdren

Tuesday was an outstanding day for the Optimist Club which met for the noon luncheon at the Bothwell Hotel. At this meeting Joe Causino, community director for the South Side Branch of the YMCA, St. Louis, was the principal speaker, and Lou Jurinich, St. Louis, boys' work director for Optimist International, presented the Optimist basketball tournament trophy to the championship basketball team, the Junior Optimists.

Gold basketballs were given to individual members and the sportsmanship trophy went to Jimmy Mateja.

In addition, Dr. K. L. Holdren was presented the life membership certificate in the Sedalia Optimist Club and the gold engraved life membership card.

In presenting the trophy and the basketballs to the winning team, Mr. Jurinich told the boys that they won through luck, for luck is a four letter word spelled W-O-R-K. He also told them that no matter how tall their fathers might be, they had to do their own growing, for being a big man in life depends on the individual. The boys on the team are: Marshall Bryant, captain, Robert Jones, Larry Lower, Joe Coffey, Larry Kaweckie, Bill Reed, Harry Kerr and Gene Kent.

The sportsmanship award was presented by Mr. Jurinich to Jimmy Mateja, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Mateja. The sportsmanship award, Mr. Jurinich told Jimmy, who is a member of the Doty Bulldogs, exemplifies before all others conduct far above the average. Teammates and opponents gave you this award for outstanding sportsmanship.

Jimmy's dad is a member of the Optimist Club and was there to see him receive the award and there were two other people there, two who have played a big part in moulding Jimmy's characteristics into the kind of a boy who wins the top honor for sportsmanship.

These special guests were Jimmy's mother and the Rev. Anthony Migoni, assistant pastor of Sacred Heart Church. Teaching the right things in life, playing the game of basketball and life as a whole on the square, are the things that Father Migoni strives to engrave upon the hearts of the boys under his training, and with Jimmy as an example, he is succeeding at his task.

The life membership certificate and card was presented to Dr. Holdren by Harold Barrick, president of the club. In receiving it, Dr. Holdren said he was very glad he was able to take a life membership because it is with this membership that another Optimist Club will be formed somewhere, and it is worth it if it helps at least one boy. ## Israel Situation Is Tense

Need Preparedness For Defense, Premier Says In Asking Big Three for Backing

JERUSALEM, Israel Section (AP)—Premier Moshe Sharett told Parliament today the tense situation along Israel's borders "now calls for the utmost preparedness and the strengthening of Israel's defense."

He announced Israel was asking the United States, Britain and France to bring before the United Nations Security Council the Negev bus incident in which 11 Jews were killed by machinegunners a week ago.

Israel blamed the killings on Jordan and walked out of the Israeli-Jordan Mixed Armistice Commission yesterday after the U. N.-sponsored body failed to adopt an Israeli resolution to that effect.

Sharett said Israel's ambassadors in the capitals of the Western Big Three powers had been instructed to inform those governments of the latest developments in the Israeli-Jordan dispute and suggest that the Big Three bring up the matter before the Security Council.

Sharett said a false report had been circulated "by one of our neighbors that Israel was massing troops, while in fact this country is massing its own troops along the Israeli borders."

An Israeli military spokesman announced this morning that Syria had moved up an infantry brigade to strengthen her forces on the border.

An Arab spokesman complained to the United Nations last week that Israel was concentrating troops on her borders with Syria, Lebanon and Jordan. Israel denied the charge.

Israeli members walked out of the U. N.-sponsored Israel-Jordan Armistice Commission yesterday after the American chairman, representing the U. N., refused to support an Israeli motion to condemn Jordan for the bus attack.

The American, Navy Cmdr. Elmo Hutchison, said he did not think the commission had conclusive evidence the Arab attackers came from Jordan. He suggested investigation of the incident continue.

Man Leaves His Leg—A Wooden One—As Security for Debt

The old story, "I'll leave my wife for security," didn't work out the other night as two men in an automobile accident didn't have a wife to leave. But one man said, "Here take my leg," and handed it to the startled Sedalia garage operator to keep for a few days until they could raise $10 for services.

It seems the men went off Highway 50 into a ditch up near La Monte. A wrecker was called and the car was hauled back to Sedalia. The next morning the men had but $3 between them and the bill was $15. The garage owner didn't want the car, the jack, or any car accessories.

One man scratched his head, reached in the back of the car and came up with the wooden leg. "I'll get along on crutches until we get back in a few days. The leg is worth $200, so we'll be back." The men then departed.

Both participating business firms and teachers are enthusiastic over Sedalia's first Business-Education Day which will be held Friday, sponsored by the Chamber of Commerce.

The day will start at the Fox Theatre with heads of the 30 business firms taking part to be at the theatre at 8 a. m. The 156 teachers will arrive by 8:30 and will find their places by placards with the names of the business firms on them.

Teachers will be guests of the business firms at luncheon, which will be served at 12 o'clock at St. Patrick's School Hall.

Ike Believes No Emergency Action Due On Employment

President Also Says No Man Should Stand In Judgment on His Own Case As He Comments on McCarthy Incident

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower said today (A) there is nothing in the current unemployment situation calling for emergency action and (B) in response to a question about Sen. McCarthy (R-Wis.), that no man should sit in judgment on his own case.

The two hot subjects were tossed to the President at a news conference. Eisenhower was reminded by a reporter that he had said March probably would be the key month in determining whether a slump in business and employment would be offset by new gains. The President replied he had implied that March was a significant month because there is usually an upturn in business in this month.

He said however, that he had not promised any immediate launching of large scale countermeasures by the government. Instead, he said, he had pledged a new examination of the problem which was causing real concern.

He said that always after the end of war there was a drop in production, adding that employment went down at the same time. He said unemployment has been rising since last July, but added that the reports for March are not all in.

One thing that is affecting the situation, the President said, is that Easter is late this year and the ladies just haven't been buying yet.

He said, firmly however, that nothing has yet developed which would call for a slam bang emergency program being applied at this moment.

Precipitate action might actually upset the situation rather than help it, Eisenhower declared. But he said almost every conceivable kind of program is under consideration and study.

As to McCarthy, the President was asked his opinion of the senator's stand that he would not investigate matters related to his investigation subcommittee's inquiry into his dispute with Army officials but would insist on the right to cross-examine witnesses.

Eisenhower declined to express a specific opinion on that, but he said he was ready to go on record as to the general situation. When he declared:

"When a man is party to a dispute in America—directly or indirectly—he should not be permitted to sit in judgment. On other matters, the President:

1. Said, regarding the tense situation in Indochina, it is important to the free world to have a settlement there in favor of those who want to live their own lives against Communist aggression.

2. Said there is no change in the United States attitude regarding Red China in connection with the conference to be held at Geneva next month. Red China will be represented there, but not as one of the main consulting powers. The U. S. so far has refused to recognize Communist China on that basis.

3. Declared that the effects of the recent hydrogen blast in the Pacific apparently were surprising even to the Americans who conducted the tests. The President said things happened at the test which apparently hadn't happened before.

Eisenhower said, however, as the White House did yesterday, that he will not discuss the H-bomb situation further until he has had an opportunity to confer with Lewis W. Strauss, chairman of the Atomic Energy Commission. Strauss is expected to leave the Pacific area in a week or 10 days.

4. Warmly praised House Republicans who led a successful fight last week against a Democratic move to cut personal income taxes. The President also noted that the Republicans had the help of some Democrats and added that on the whole he believes the House is doing a fine over-all job.

5. Asserted vigorously that the FBI files are inviolate so far as the possibility of making them available to congressional investigators is concerned.

6. Declined to comment on Senate rejection yesterday of a resolution to unseat Sen. Chavez (D-NM). That is a matter, Eisenhower remarked, which is strictly the Senate's business.

7. Expressed anew belief that the legislative program a crying need to assure an upturn in the economy, happiness for all, and a stronger America.

8. Characterized his conference with Gen. Douglas MacArthur last week as purely an exchange of views on the world situation between two old friends. Eisenhower said they reached no definitive conclusions and had not intended to do so.

Find Method Of Detecting Cancer Early

BOSTON (AP)—Boston scientists have devised methods of detecting and diagnosing in a relatively early stage three of the commonest killers—cancers of the brain, breast and uterine cervix, the tip of the womb.

The results of this research were disclosed today to a group of science writers touring leading research centers under the guidance of the American Cancer Society.

A Tufts Medical School scientist, Dr. William H. Fishman, has found a simple, cheap and rapid way of detecting not only well-established cancers of the uterine cervix in post-menopausal women but also cancers of microscopic size and even precancerous conditions.

While his method missed a little less than 20 per cent of proven cancers, it brought to light many cancerous and precancerous conditions which might have been missed by conventional methods, he said.

Dr. William H. Sweet, neurosurgeon, and Dr. Gordon L. Brown, physicist, of the Harvard University School of Medicine and Massachusetts General Hospital, reported that they could not only diagnose but even pinpoint brain tumors without opening the skull.

They do this by injecting the patient with radioactive arsenic, which concentrates in brain tumors and can be traced with twin scintillation counters an hour or a day later. A scintillation counter detects radiation.

Dr. Ira T. Nathanson and associates of the same institutions have found they can predict with high accuracy whether a lump in the breast is benign or cancerous.

They do this by injecting the patient with radioactive potassium, which concentrates in cancer and, as a rule, goes in very small quantity to benign tumors.

While the scientists emphasize that the method is not a sure test for breast cancers they indicate that their figures leave no doubt but that patients now may have a good idea before an operation as to whether the lump is innocent or whether it is cancer. The latter verdict calls for extensive surgery, including removal of the breast.

The test was made on 100 women with benign and malignant breast tumors. None of the benign tumors took up suspicious quantities of the radioactive potassium.

The science writers in another interview were told that 18 patients with localized cancer of the voice box (larynx) treated during the last four years by multimillion-volt X-rays now show no evidence of the disease.

They were not called cured. Five years must pass following treatment before any cancer patient is considered cured.

The report was made by Dr. John G. Trump, engineer, of the Massachusetts Institute of Technology, who worked with doctors attached to the Lahey Clinic here.

Share-the-Wealth Thefts by 9 Men

ALBANY, N. Y. (AP)—Nine men have been fined a total of $1,100 in connection with "share-the-wealth" thefts of $7,000 worth of government property from Army depots at Schenectady and nearby Voorheesville.

The nine, who pleaded guilty in federal court yesterday to charges of stealing tools and clothing from the depots, were among 28 civilian employees arrested by the FBI last November.

Federal authorities said the men had taken the goods from the Army storehouses and set them

East-West Trade — II of Series—

Return to More Normal Trade With Russia Seen as Likely

By FRANK O'BRIEN

WASHINGTON (AP)—Don't be surprised if Russia soon offers to sell production machinery to the Western world—and, at the same time, to buy production machinery from that same Western world.

Contradictory, yes, but Soviet plans usually are, and U. S. Commerce Department officials analyzing a Russian trade promotion campaign which has been under way for 9 or 10 months believe these points will be part of a proposal they expect Moscow to make soon, a proposal advocating a "return to normal trade relations."

The means by which Russia hopes to open up its trade with the West, at a low level since the Communist grab of Czechoslovakia in 1948, are devious, according to a nonpublicized report circulating in the Commerce Department.

Objectives in the campaign are equally devious in many regards. Here are some of them as seen by Commerce officials:

1. Russia is anxious to break up or at least soften the non-Communist world's picture of communism as able to meet only the barest needs of its own people, much less pull any weight in the West.

2. Since the '20s Russia has been straining every sinew to produce steel plants, transportation and mining equipment, and heavy machinery. It may have a certain surplus for at least dispensable quantities of some types of such capital goods it could trade for consumer production equipment in an effort to give its underprivileged people a lift.

3. The shadow of the United States as the production colossus of the world is seriously hurting Russia's attempt to keep her following in neutralist Asia and in nations of delicate political balance like Italy and France.

4. Economic ties are pipelines of political influence. In any country where Russia can establish trade of any economic importance (for instance, become a main buyer of ships) it immediately expands its political influence because it could cause economic trouble by threatening to withdraw this trade. Shipwrights in countries like France, Italy and Germany might put pressure on their governments to soften, or even abandon, projects like the Atlantic Pact or European army.

Tempting trade offers, especially in areas of unemployment or threatened unemployment, would be a powerful influence in softening interpretation of what is and what is not strategic trade. Recent reports from London have spoken of British merchants, back from Moscow with contracts for goods, beseeching the government to put a liberal interpretation on strategic trade lists.

Agreed on by major Western nations, these lists include military equipment and materials and machines needed to make them.

British Prime Minister Churchill, in a House of Commons speech, has called for more British-Russian trade as a means of reaching a "workaday" understanding with the Soviets. It was reported aside. Then, authorities said, the men would tell friends where the loot was, and the friends would pick it up.

JENKINS RADIO 614 So. Ohio Phone 717

Britain would suggest to France and the United States that the trade lists be revised. Churchill emphasized he did not propose trade in war goods, however.

Effectiveness of the West's attempt to contribute nothing to Soviet warmaking ability depends on common action throughout the free world, but Russia's professed new willingness to do business with the West has been tempting.

Associated Press Correspondent Richard Kasichke reported recently from Moscow that the city's downtown hotels were sprinkled with foreign trade delegations and businessmen, some talking about contracts worth millions of dollars.

British traders, Kasichke said, were the most numerous and most optimistic. Other delegations mentioned were from France, Argentina, Egypt, Israel, India and Belgium as well as from Soviet satellites China, Hungary and Czechoslovakia. British merchants said their bids were competing with U. S. commercial offers, but no American traders were located in Moscow.

The talk in Moscow was of Soviet purchases of ships, textile machinery, consumer goods, farm products and raw materials, and Soviet sales of grain, timber, manganese, chrome ore and precious metals.

For Western nations heavily dependent on trade with the United States, the Soviet radio and press predict an economic crisis in this country that will leave these trade allies on the headlines. They offer Russian and other Soviet bloc trade as a hedge against depression and a way "to get out from under the clutches of American direction and control."

At the Berlin foreign ministers conference Russian Foreign Minister V. M. Molotov proposed a conference to consider lowering the strategic trade barriers between East and West.

Adopting Six Youths Makes Family Famous

MINSTER, Ohio (AP)—When Ben Martin and his wife brought six youngsters home to live with them in this western Ohio town of 1,500 persons, Martin didn't think it would cause much excitement.

Even now that word of the multiple adoption has been in newspapers throughout the country, the 37-year-old tool and dye maker can't understand why people are so interested.

"We didn't have any children of our own and couldn't have any," he explained, "so we adopted them."

He referred to Elizabeth, 5; Bernard, 4; Brenda Lou, 2; David, 5; Diana, 9, and John, 8, whom he and his wife adopted last Saturday in Mercer County. The children's mother is dead, he said, but noted the court wouldn't let him say any more about their background.

Doctor Hits Attitudes Of Doctors

By ALTON L. BLAKESLEE AP Science Reporter

CLEVELAND (AP)—A physician who was once an ordained minister today criticized doctors "who feel that God made them, and everybody else just happened."

Dr. Robert M. Myers of Kansas City, Mo., made the remark in urging doctors to "become more human" in dealing with patients, especially prospective mothers.

Speaking to the American Academy of General Practice, Dr. Myers said: "I have a very definite conviction that the professional doctor interested in his pocketbook instead of the patient, and thinking only of retiring as soon as possible, does far more to further the cause of state or socialized medicine than all the politicians who ever lived."

Fear is the most common complication of pregnancy and the doctor can do much to relieve it, Dr. Myers said.

"See 'Nora Brown' as a complete individual instead of seeing her only as a machine which shall soon give birth to a baby."

Economic fear "is also one of the complications of pregnancy. I feel the patient has the right to know almost exactly to the dollar what the baby is going to cost. I would far rather hear my patients say, 'Is that all you are going to charge me?' instead of, 'My doctor, I can't afford all that.'"

Dr. Myers said, "If we have any reason to exist as the American Academy of General Practice, I believe it is primarily to bring the very best medical care at the very lowest possible cost to the most number of patients."

Life Sentence Goes To 4-Time Arsonist

HUNTINGTON, W. Va. (AP)—Harold L. Hunter, convicted last month of arson, appeared in Common Pleas Court yesterday for sentencing.

Inter-America Group Settles Bitter Dispute

CARACAS, Venezuela (AP)—Delegates to the 10th Inter-American Conference pushed ahead with new vigor today after settlement of the bitter dispute between Colombia and Peru over the granting of asylum to Peruvian opposition leader Victor Raul Haya de la Torre.

The case had heavy overtones regarding the whole principle of political asylum, which is of paramount importance to Latin Americans.

Colombian Foreign Minister Evaristo Sauris made the oblique announcement yesterday—without once mentioning Haya's name—that his country and Peru had reached a settlement on what to do about the man who has been a political refugee in the Colombian Embassy in Lima since 1948.

Neither Sauris nor Peruvian officials gave any details of the agreement, but authoritative unofficial sources said Haya would be permitted to leave Lima for exile, probably going to Uruguay, which has no common border with Peru.

Haya took refuge in the embassy in 1948 after a bloody unsuccessful revolt in his now-outlawed Apra party. Peru classed him as a common criminal and demanded he be surrendered. Colombia refused, terming him a political refugee entitled to political asylum in accordance with Latin-American tradition.

Haya, now 59, has been a virtual prisoner in the embassy since Peru would not grant him safe conduct out of the country.

The economic phase of the conference neared an end today after the United States and Latin America came to compromise agreements on a number of issues.

The Economic Committee adopted resolutions:

1. Calling for American nations to take steps to encourage foreign private investments and particularly to eliminate international double taxation.
2. Urging "industrialized countries"—meaning the United States—to eliminate tariffs, quotas and other restrictions on inter-American trade. The United States objected to this one, contending tariff reductions should be reciprocal.
3. Committing the United States in principle to consider the economic effect on producers of strategic materials when enacting prohibitions of such exports to iron curtain countries under threat of losing U. S. aid.

Audit Shows $75,000 Short In Clio Bank

CLIO, Ala. (AP)—The fear which began gnawing at citizens here three weeks ago when banker Royall Reynolds disappeared became an awful truth yesterday—an audit showed a $75,000 deficit at the Merchants Exchange.

An official who helped audit books of the little unchartered money exchange declined use of his name but said the check revealed at least that much money is missing.

He added, however, that the $75,000 figure does not include personal property which Reynolds has promised to throw in to help make up any deficit.

Reynolds, who was president of the defunct exchange, said he would dispose of his home, car and government bonds in an effort to pay off depositors. There was no estimate of the value of his personal holdings.

Reynolds, released from jail temporarily to help with the audit, was put back in his cell after the check was completed. He is charged in three warrants with embezzling funds of the exchange while president.

Depositors have filed unofficial claims for about $167,000, but less than $87,000 of exchange money is available.

Cops Join Boy, 10, In Game of Cops, Robbers; Arrest Him

OKLAHOMA CITY (AP)—A 10-year-old boy, wearing two toy guns and a sheriff's badge, was joined by police in his game of cops and robbers yesterday. But found they were playing for keeps.

Officers C. W. Pierce and C. B. Mead said the lad confessed being the ringleader on nine burglaries reported over the weekend. Two playmates were implicated, one 10, the other 8. They, too, confessed, police said.

The burglaries netted $28 in cash, a quantity of candy and cookies, and several toys, including the two guns and sheriff's badge.

Fires at Bush, Only Cop Is Behind Foliage

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Pvt. Robert A. Arrellano was hauled into Municipal Court yesterday for shooting blanks at a clump of bushes. Seems there was a speed cop hiding behind the foliage.

Patrolman T. A. Smith told the court he might have been killed. Seems Arrellano had a live shell in his revolver as well as the blanks.

"Aw," replied the soldier, "I knew which Chambers were loaded. Besides, how did I know he was there? What was he hiding for?"

Smith admitted he was hiding. Seems he was watching for traffic violators.

Arrellano drew a 30-day suspended sentence.

Sen. Chavez Keeps Seat By 53-36 Vote

WASHINGTON (AP)—A solid phalanx of Senate Democrats has turned back a Republican attempt to unseat veteran Sen. Chavez (D-NM). By so doing, they successfully defended their slim one-vote margin over the GOP in the Senate.

All of Chavez' 47 Democratic colleagues joined with five Republicans and independent Sen. Morse of Oregon last night to defeat the ouster resolution 53-36. Chavez did not vote.

As a result, Chavez now has a firm hold on the Senate seat he has occupied since 1935 and the Democrats still outnumber the Republicans in the Senate 48-47. The defeated resolution declared that the 1952 election in which Chavez outran Republican Patrick J. Hurley by about 5,000 votes was "No contest" and that Chavez' seat was vacant.

The resolution was based on the report of the Republican majority of the Senate elections subcommittee, which said after a 14-month probe that there were so many flagrant violations of New Mexican election law in 1952, it was impossible to tell who really won. The subcommittee majority at no point criticized Chavez' own conduct.

Chavez hailed the vote as a vindication of "the honor and the reputation of my state and 7,000 election officials... who participated in the conduct of the 1952 election."

Had Chavez been thrown out of his seat, New Mexico's Republican Gov. Edwin L. Mechem could have named a Republican to fill the vacancy.

Just before the vote on the resolution was beaten, the Senate struck down by an identical 53-36 vote a compromise offer by the Republicans to leave the seat vacant until a special election.

Chairman Barrett (R-Wyo.) of the elections subcommittee said after the two votes he believes the New Mexico election issue is settled as far as the Senate is concerned.

However, Justice Department lawyers plan to go before a grand jury in Albuquerque to establish that an investigation is under way and thus to lay the basis for getting impounded 1952 election ballots for study after the Senate committee is finished with them.

The subcommittee, following its $200,000 investigation, concluded that about one third of the 240,000 ballots cast in New Mexico were invalid.

Elopement Fails Due To Speed In Stolen Car

NEW HARTFORD, N. Y. (AP)—Lloyd T. Dukett, 18, of Rome, N. Y., told police that when he left home yesterday with his 15-year-old sweetheart they figured they'd soon be man and wife.

But, police said, the planned elopement didn't pan out, because Dukett and the girl drove through this village at about 80 miles an hour in a stolen car bearing stolen registration plates, Route 5 and rammed a branch office of the Oneida National Bank.

State police said Dukett would be charged with grand larceny and burglary. The girl, officers said, was held temporarily in the Oneida County detention home.

Senate Takes Up Excise Tax Cuts Today

BULLETIN

WASHINGTON (P)—Sen. Millikin (R-Colo.), fighting against any further cuts in a pending excise tax bill, pledged today a complete overhaul of all excises as soon as the government's finances permit.

Millikin, chairman of the Senate Finance Committee, made this promise in a floor speech opening debate on the bill which already contains reductions of almost a billion dollars.

WASHINGTON (P)—The Senate takes up today a bill to slash excise taxes by almost a billion dollars yearly, with the administration facing a fight to prevent further cuts in revenue.

Both Sen. Millikin (R-Colo.), floor manager for the measure, and Majority Leader Knowland (R-Calif.) predicted the bill would go through without any substantial change.

But, unlike the House, the Senate considers tax legislation under procedure that permits amendments to be offered freely.

Thus industries which would get no tax relief in the excise measure as presented to the House by its Ways and Means Committee will have their first new opportunity to seek cuts in the Senate.

The Senate leadership hopes to get final action on the bill by Friday. The measure then will have to go to conference with the House to iron out differences. The sales tax changes would take effect a week from tomorrow.

Attempts will be made in the Senate to knock out the excise cuts in the bill as well as to add new reductions.

But the major administration challenge appears to come from three amendments sponsored by Sen. Douglas (D-Ill.) which would cut the automobile excise tax from 10 to 7 per cent; eliminate the 10 per cent levy on a wide range of household appliances including refrigerators, stoves, freezers, ironers, dryers, dish washers and toasters; and cut the tax on television and radio sets and phonographs from 10 to 5 per cent.

These proposals would boost the tax reductions in the bill by about $300 million dollars. As passed by the House, the bill cut about 25 excises by $12 million dollars. The Senate Finance Committee, which Millikin heads, eliminated a few of the House cuts but added others of its own so that the total revenue loss would be $35 million a year.

The bill would also extend for a year beyond April 1 a series of major excise increases voted in 1951 after the Korean War began. Items affected include autos, trucks, cigarettes, liquor, wine, beer and gasoline.

Douglas argues that his amendments would give a needed shot in the arm to consumer purchases in the current business downturn. He says the cuts he proposes should reduce prices of autos by $50 and of major appliances by about $25.

Walkers Talk Of the Beauty Along a Canal

Along the C&O Canal in Western Maryland (P)—Talk of a compromise on the question of converting the scenic Chesapeake and Ohio Canal into a highway accompanied the Douglas bikers today on the fifth lap of their 184-mile walk to

The party of 23 led by Supreme Court Justice William O. Douglas left the Potomac Fish and Game Club today on the fifth leg of their hike, about 22 miles to the Conococheague Sportsmen's Club between Shepherdstown, W. Va., and Andletam, Md.

Irston Barnes, president of the Audubon Society of Washington, D. C., said some members of the party who originally favored a parkway now agree that many places along the canal should not be touched by the proposed highway.

Others, Barnes said, who wanted to keep the canal untouched now are beginning to understand it should be made more accessible. Douglas, himself, has said there is not room for a highway along the canal without spoiling the natural beauty of the area. But his own thoughts on developing the canal as a recreational area which could be used by "tens of thousands" include more access roads.

Tipton PTA Hears Of County Health Unit Program

TIPTON — The Tipton PTA held its regular monthly meeting in the home economics course Thursday evening at 8 o'clock. The President, Mrs. Harold Albion, conducted the business meeting.

Heavy rains cut the attendance and prevented a quorum from being present, which is necessary for election of officers. This piece of business was postponed until the April meeting.

Dr. Stonner presented a film on dental health which portrayed the necessity for early discovery of dental needs. Mr. Proctor, of the State Health Department, spoke on the benefits of a county health program and cited examples of various counties over the state which have adopted the plan.

Mrs. Vic Gray from California brought a petition for a health program for this county. Six hundred signatures are necessary to bring it to a vote of the people.

During the social hour the first grade mothers served refreshments.

Judge Albert A. Reeves of the U. S. District Court said he would always admire Judge Reeves "for his expression of faith in God, for his understanding of human weakness and for his humility in a position of power."

Judge Richard M. Duncan, chief judge of the Western District of Missouri, said Judge Reeves "has always been my ideal."

"There are hours of trouble and need that only a judge can know," he said. "I could always go to him for good advice. I know of no man in our land who has more aptly filled his position, and I know of no man who has a higher sense of justice."

Duncan said Judge Reeves through the years "has kept abreast of the times, meeting modern problems and situations with modern understanding."

Truman said Judge Reeves "is an honorable man, a kindly man and a merciful man. Every compliment he's received tonight has been deserved."

"Our great Republic," Mr. Truman said, "is blessed with a form of government which has never been equalled, and the presence of such men as Judge Reeves in the judiciary is one of the reasons it is so great."

Being Beautiful Too Often Becomes Full Time Job

By HAL BOYLE
NEW YORK (AP)—Sometimes a homely girl will say defensively: "I wish I had the portrait of Whistler's Mother tattooed on my forehead. That might make me more interesting to look at."

This attitude is wrong. Patricia Medina, a British actress, said the other day that homely men were much more fun on dates than "the pretty boys." She found they had a better sense of humor, were more attentive, less conceited and put more effort in their wooing.

This, of course, is no news to us homely Joes. We have known it ever since the first caveman grew a wart on his nose and then, by sheer force of character, turned it into a social and business asset. A man with a wart on his nose is bound to be remembered—and being remembered is the biggest problem in getting ahead in this busy world.

What is true of a homely man is just as true of a homely girl. She stands out from the crowd, and this gives her a chance to demonstrate what real talent she may have. Those who pause to laugh at her for the moment may remain to admire her through the years.

A beautiful bachelor girl once asked me, after looking around a roomful of guests at a party: "Why do so many successful men seem to have such homely wives?"

The only tactful reply I could think of was:

Dancing Mice Are Latest Aid In Cancer War

By FRANK CAREY
AP Science Reporter
BAR HARBOR, Maine (AP)—Mice that do a ballet step are the latest aids in the war on cancer.

Dr. Margaret Dickie today described discovery of a variety of mice that "pirouette" continually, just like a ballerina.

And she said that studies of this "ballerina mouse" not only offered opportunities for probing the cause of cancer but also such neuro-muscular diseases as multiple sclerosis.

Dr. Dickie, of the Jackson Memorial Cancer Research Laboratory here, told about it at a conference with reporters making a nationwide tour of research projects sponsored by the American Cancer Society.

Movies of the "ballerina mice" show them in real form. The mice constantly twirl or "pirouette" in contrast to the normal motion of a mouse, which is back and forth.

Dr. Dickie indicated that the study of this unusual motion might help determine what differentiates the normal cell from the malignant one, as in cancer.

Scientists of the Jackson laboratory told reporters that a million mice are bred there, each year for various purposes, and that these constitute about three fourths of all the mice used in cancer research throughout the nation.

THE SEDALIA DEMOCRAT—Sedalia, Mo., Wed., Mar. 24, 1954

"Most successful men are probably near-sighted."

But I doubt if she heard me. She was studying herself in a wall mirror.

That is the trouble with so many lovely ladies. Being beautiful is a career with them. But no girl makes a full time job of being homely. A homely girl has time to listen to a man tell his dreams, time to help him achieve his dreams.

A woman who has a face she finds herself unable honestly to fall in love with must, if she is normal, express her human love in other ways and other lives—and she generally gets a richer reward, a bigger payoff, in the end.

She will also probably find that her ugly duckling face, that succeeded her as a girl, will mature, as she does, into something better. Time is the enemy of the merely beautiful. It is the friend of the homely. Homely faces weather the ruinous years better than beautiful faces, unless they be carved in cameo.

The older a homely woman grows the less reason she has to fear her mirror. But to a once beautiful woman a mirror is a fragile reproach. All the arts of the drugstore and the beauty salon cannot restore the image it once held. And since the mirror has been her life, what has she left?

A homely girl today has one more consolation in her hour of gloom. People are living longer now. This makes physical beauty less important in a lifetime. It is of real significance to a woman from the age of 15 to perhaps 45 at most, less than half the years she lives.

At any age a homely woman who has learned how to be attractive has an edge over a woman who has beauty and nothing else. Her advantage grows with the years.

After 45 a woman who has depended on beauty alone to carry her through life could tattoo the Star Spangled Banner on her forehead—and still fail to make men snap to attention.

As Cleopatra, reportedly a homely girl herself, probably would put it:

"It ain't how a gal looks that's important—it's who she can get to look after her."

Merry-Go-Round

Republicans Turn Sour On Chairman Un-American Activities

By Drew Pearson

WASHINGTON—The house committee on un-American activities, now pretty well dwarfed by the gymnastics of a senator from Wisconsin, is having one of its few full-committee meetings today. One reason for its infrequent meetings is that Republicans as well as Democrats have been sore at the helter-skelter tactics of the committee's unpredictable chairman, Harold Velde. Another is that subcommittee meetings have been held in key areas partly to unearth embarrassing political information that will influence local elections.

Velde was sometimes difficult as a presiding officer. Republicans are still sore over the way he subpoenaed Harry Truman without consulting other committee members. They feel this balled up the carefully laid Brownell plan to pin the Harry Dexter White matter squarely on Truman.

These are some of the reasons why Republicans in Velde's own congressional district are planning to run another Republican against him in the Illinois primary.

Meanwhile, one Republican on Velde's own committee, GOP Congressman Pat Kearney of New York, a former commander of the American Legion, is thumbs down on Velde and sometimes votes with the Democrats. However, one Democrat, Morgan Moulder of Missouri, sometimes sides with Velde.

A congressman with a good record, Moulder persuaded Velde to give a job to the brother of his good-looking secretary, and apparently feels beholden to the chairman as a result. The brother, George Williams, has a $9,211.28 job with the committee though out of college only four years—not bad for a young man of 25. So maybe Congressman Moulder can be forgiven for being grateful.

Meanwhile, also, Congressman Velde has one staff member, Leslie Scott, assigned to checking his own constituents back in Illinois, with a view to promoting the congressman's re-election. His salary, paid by the taxpayers, is $6,927.28.

The Velde committee has spent nearly $500,000 since the beginning of the 83rd congress and when you look over the payroll you can understand why.

Double Standard

One day, after the White House staged a record lobbying drive with the house of representatives to pass the President's tax bill and preserve teamwork between the executive and congress, John Foster Dulles took an opposite stand before the senate foreign relations committee.

Asked by Senator Fulbright of Arkansas why he didn't do something about the way McCarthy was wrecking American foreign policy abroad, the secretary of state replied:

"It is not my responsibility as a member of the executive branch to get into a problem which I believe is the responsibility of the legislative branch."

Tax Victory

The Eisenhower tax victory in the house of representatives marks not only one step up on the Republican tax program but the development of the smoothest-working machine Capitol Hill has seen in years.

Every president tries to develop a lobbying organization with congress—some successfully, some not so successfully. FDR was highly successful, Harry Truman was not. At first President Eisenhower maintained a hands-off policy, but of late he has gone in for pressuring congress as vigorously—and perhaps more expertly—than any other recent president.

In order to defeat the $700 tax-dependency allowance, recalcitrant Republicans were promised jobs and campaign funds if they voted right; were called traitors to the party if they voted wrong. One of the most effective lobbying was the old Citizens for Eisenhower Committee, now renamed the committee to elect a Republican congress, which has been collecting fat-cat campaign funds and has threatened to withhold them from nonconforming Republicans.

That was when even GOP Congressman Ayres of Akron, who warned that to vote against the $700 dependency allowance meant defeat, changed his mind and voted for what he said was defeat.

20 Tough Republicans

Toughest job the White House and GOP leaders had was with 20 Republicans who had introduced bills similar to the Democratic proposal to increase the dependency income-tax allowance. Had even half of these 20 stuck to their convictions, the Republican tax bill would have lost. Pressure was so heavy however, and lobbying so persuasive that only four stuck to their guns—Mrs. Rogers, Mass.; Saylor, Penn.; Pillion, N.Y.; Bennett, Mich. (The latter did not vote, but was paired for the dependency increase.)

The other 16 Republicans who reversed themselves under pressure and voted against the bills they themselves introduced were: Clardy, Mich. (paired against); Busbey and Mason, Ill.; Cole, Javits and Wharton, of N.Y.; Kersten of Wis.; Poff, Va.; Rees, Kans.; Simpson, Pa.; McDonough and Ut, Calif.; Bates, Mass.; Hagen, Minn.; Warburton, Del.; and Bentley, Mich., who though unable to vote was paired against.

No Traitor She

Most courageous Republican was Edith Nourse Rogers, Mass., chairman of the Veterans Affairs Committee. When called a traitor and bluntly reminded that if the tax bill were to include the $700 dependency exemption, the loss in tax revenues might force the shelving of some of her bills for aiding disabled war vets, the Congresswoman from New England flared back:

"I'm still going to vote for recommitment. I just dare anyone to try to punish the veterans because of my vote!"

Note: Another who felt the "terrific" pressure was GOP Congressman Gardner Withrow of Wisconsin. One hour before the House vote, he told friends that he intended to vote for the $700 dependency allowance. One hour later, Withrow mysteriously recorded himself against. House leaders had a "little talk" with Withrow.

Prehistoric men were afflicted with dental trouble, the same as we are today. The idea that they had perfect teeth arise from the fact that early archeologists picked out the most perfect specimens.

Peter Edson's Column—

Healthy Old Elephant

WASHINGTON—That Ripon, Wis., ceremony on March 20 to commemorate the founding of the Republican Party 100 years ago touched off a bit of political horseplay in the U.S. Senate.

Republican Sen. Alexander Wiley, from Wisconsin, was giving the celebration a little advance publicity with a speech. "A feature of the ceremony will be the lighting of the symbolic 'freedom flame,' which the enthusiastic citizens of Ripon have pledged to keep alive as long as freedom lives in America," he declared.

After Senator Wiley had finished his announcement, Sen. Paul Douglas (D., Ill.) replied: "I have been interested in hearing my friend speak of the candlelighting ceremony. Let me inquire whether it will be to celebrate a birthday or a wake?"

"I am very happy to have that very challenging question," Senator Wiley answered. "The celebration is of course to be a birthday. However, as the young cub is only 100 years old, he is full of pep, vim and vigor, as will be demonstrated next November."

"So I reply to the question of my friend, the senator from Illinois, that the celebration will not be a wake of the Democratic Party."

The Association of American Railroads has now become a reluctant cobelligerent in the big fight between Robert R. Young and William White over control of the New York Central.

Young pulled the Chesapeake & Ohio out of some of the cooperative activities of A.A.R. at the end of the war. He then set up his own rival Federation for Railway Progress.

Theoretically the A.A.R. is a neutral group representing the interests of all U.S. railroads. But a couple of charges made by Young recently goaded A.A.R. President William T. Farley into a reply.

"Young adds a new misstatement in saying that he did not urge that the government prevent railroads from deselizing," says Farley's announcement.

"I cite him to his own sworn testimony before an examiner of the Interstate Commerce Commission in finance docket 146292 on Sept. 17, 1947, when he said: 'I do not think it is in the public interest to operate diesels at all' and that there ought to be a finding down here by some department of the government that these railroads should go back to coal."

American officers at Supreme Headquarters, Allied Forces in Europe, have devised a new gag expression in referring to documents which are classified as secret, supersecret or top secret. The new, inflated classification is now known as "Colossal Secret."

Perhaps the strangest air rescue on record has been reported from Bergstrom Air Force base near Austin, Tex. An F-84 Thunderjet was practicing refueling in flight from a Boeing KC-97 tanker.

The automatic gas cap on the F-84 failed to close after one contact. The Thunderjet was in danger of losing all its fuel. Using its refueling boom as a tow rope, however, the tanker hauled the Thunderjet to the end of the Bergstrom runway, then let it land on its own power.

Nelson Rockefeller is the only American thus far mentioned as a likely successor to Dr. Alberto Lleras of Colombia, resigned secretary general of the Organization of American States, formerly known as the Pan-American Union. During the war Rockefeller served as coordinator of Inter-American affairs and as assistant secretary of state in charge of Latin-American affairs. He is now undersecretary of health, education and welfare in the Eisenhower cabinet.

Four Latin-Americans are being considered for the top O.A.S. job. One is Galo Plaza, president of Ecuador from 1948 to 1952 and former ambassador to Washington. Another ex-president being considered is Ricardo Alfaro of Panama.

Luis Quintanilla is Mexico's candidate. He is now Mexican ambassador to the O.A.S.

Dr. Rene LePrevanche, Venezuela's ambassador to the O.A.S. and chairman of its Council last year is a fifth possibility.

Some Indian chiefs recently came to Washington to protest new policies which would remove government protection from their people. They were asked what they thought about the way their affairs were being handled. After a week of hearings and visits to congressmen, which accomplished nothing, one of the braves remarked: "Heap big fertilizer. No crop."

Buffalo Knew Best

WASHINGTON—Ex-President Herbert Hoover, chairman—for the second time—of a commission trying to reorganize the federal government by an Irishman with a buckboard, to drive an efficiency expert from the east, sent to a western mining camp when Mr. Hoover was a young engineer.

He arrived at the railroad flag stop and was met by an Irishman with a buckboard, to drive him to the mine. The Irishman carefully tucked a buffalo robe around the expert's legs—hair side out—to keep him warm. But the expert made him change the robe around. It was more efficient, said the easterner, to put the hide side to break the wind; the hairy side would keep the warmth in.

They drove along, the Irishman chuckling to himself. Finally the efficiency expert asked him what he was laughing at. "I was just thinkin'," he said, "how inefficient it was of the buffalo not to know which side of his skin to wear outside to keep him warm."

Guys and Dolls

The Congressional Club in Washington sees to it that congressmen's daughters don't end up as Washington wall flowers. It has a standing committee of stags called out once a month for tea dancing. It includes military aides, Annapolis midshipmen and local college men. It's one place in town where there are two guys for every doll.

TWO TIMES

The modern world uses two kinds of time: sidereal time, which is absolutely correct, and solar time, which is not entirely accurate except on or about March 21 of each year. This latter time scale is the one in common usage.

Slow to Act on Ike Program

By James Marlow

WASHINGTON—President Eisenhower months ago expressed hope the main issue in November's congressional elections would not be fear of Communists infiltrating the government but the program of his administration.

So far this year his Republican-run Congress has hit a snail's pace in approving that program. Not a single major item in Eisenhower's program has been enacted into law yet.

Other Congresses have dawdled in the early months of the year, picked up speed later, and got a lot of swarming done before going home. Some didn't. Maybe this one will chalk up solid achievements before quitting.

If it doesn't, then the November issue, for want of something better, may have to be Communists in government, which is what Sen. McCarthy (R-Wis.) also months ago predicted it would be. Or it could be the legislation he asked for.

There have been publicly expressed complaints that the general interest in McCarthy's fight with Army officials has distracted public attention from vital work of Congress and may have distracted the lawmakers too.

But McCarthy and his problems at best can occupy only a very small piece of Congress' time. If Congress hasn't accomplished much so far it can't be blamed on McCarthy.

The lawmakers want to clear out of here by July or August so they can go home to campaign for reelection. All 435 House seats are at stake in November, and 35 of the Senate's 96 seats.

That gives Congress about four to five months to get down to cases and make a reality of the program on which Eisenhower says the voters should judge the worth of his Republican administration.

The Senate used up about five weeks of its time debating the constitutional amendments—before rejecting them—of Sen. Bricker (R-Ohio) and George D-Gal. The amendments would have restricted the President's power to make executive agreements with other nations and in some cases limited the scope of treaties, approved by the Senate.

The House has approved the administration's program to cut almost $12 billion dollars in taxes for many individuals and businesses. But the Senate hasn't voted, and won't for weeks. Even then

Looking Backward...

—1929—

Thomas Delph and Robert Short of the Sedalia-Marshall-Boonville Bus Line inaugurated a taxi service in Sedalia, known as the 2400 Cab Company.

—1929—

Glenn R. Warren, owner of the Warrencrest Kennels, received a cablegram carrying an order for $200 from a dog fancier in Shanghai, China, for a German police female dog F.O.B. Sedalia. The dog sold was Lou, a two-year-old prize winning matron.

—1929—

W. C. Cramer, local brick contractor, was awarded a contract for erection of a brick building in Holden for the Golliday Motor Co.

—1929—

In the basketball season, at its close Sedalia was in second place Smith-Cotton High pressing close behind the champions, William Chrisman High in Lexington, Mo., Marshall Slater in Lexington, Ohio, and Higginsville finished in the order named.

—1914—

The Barney Schrieber sale of 50 thoroughbred horses and mares at the Missouri State Fair grounds attracted an immense throng of horsemen from all over the United States as well as a few from Canada. Every incoming train brought horsemen of note.

—1914—

Lee Yeater, residing on route 2, suffered heavy loss in the deaths of 14 head of cattle of a peculiar malady. Dr. W. J. Lopp, deputy state veterinarian, diagnosed the disease as hemorrhagic septicemia, an ailment that in 1914 caused numerous buffalo to die in Yellowstone National Park.

—1914—

Judge O. E. Parsons, C. E. Costin and Emile Landmann returned from Holden where they were delegates to the ninth district convention of the Knights of Pythias.

—1914—

The Rev. B. F. Crissman, pastor of the First M. E. Church in Sedalia, was appointed by Bishop Charles W. Smith as superintendent of the St. Louis district of the Methodist Church to succeed the Rev. W. T. Wright, whose term of six years expired.

the outcome is uncertain.

The Senate approved the St. Lawrence seaway—a project uniting the United States and Canada in developing the waterway, plus waterpower—but the House hasn't acted.

Last year the House approved statehood for Hawaii. But the Senate has tacked together statehood for Hawaii and Alaska. If it approves this double statehood bill, which it may not, then the House will have to approve statehood for Alaska. More delay. Outcome: uncertain. And Eisenhower hasn't asked statehood now for Alaska.

There has been no final legislation in either House on Eisenhower's program for revising the Taft-Hartley labor relations law or widening and improving social security, or extending reciprocal trade, or Eisenhower's housing and farm programs.

He had proposed early this year, after much work by his administration in the fall so he'd be ready when the lawmakers got back, these things among others: Taft-Hartley—14 amendments; farm—revisions aimed at flexible price supports; social security—bringing 10 million more Americans under it and increasing the benefits; health—many details involving national health improvement, including support for private health insurance plans; housing—building 35,000 public housing units a year, plus slum clearance and improvement loans on existing homes.

National Highway 50 Group Could Quicken Sedalia Trade

The "hoofs" are off to a flying start toward making Highway 50 the main artery for traffic from coast-to-coast. It will mean a lot to Sedalia if the efforts of Eugene Fryhoff of Warrensburg and Elmer Siedhoff of Emporia, Kan., receive their just reward.

Fryhoff is president and Siedhoff is secretary of the newly formed National U. S. Highway 50 Association. Darwin Lambert of Ely, Nev., may have to change his name to Lamberhoff to keep up with the crowd. But he is vice president of the group which was formed at a meeting of Highway 50 officials from several states, held at Dodge City, Kan.

Boosters of the route claim it is 125 miles shorter from the Atlantic to the Pacific (or reverse) than any other single highway. And Scenic 50 is the only one that can lay claim to the fact it had its origin and original layout at the hands of a surveyor named George Washington.

It seems George surveyed the first part of 50, now called the Georgetown Highway, as it extends through Virginia, West Virginia and into Ohio. The wild and woolly West was not considered then as much of a place for a road and the man who fathered his country let his highway go in Ohio as an infant.

There are several Highway 50 organizations along the route, some by single states and some by groups of several states. It was representatives of these that met at Dodge City to set up the national association. They will boost the whole stream of pavement, extending from Ocean City, Md. to San Francisco, Calif.

Several of these groups have beautiful motion pictures displaying the beauties of nature to be spotted by the '50' traveler. One, "Famous 50," was made by the Western States Highway 50 Association, and another was made by Colorado, showing the Rockies. These will soon be available here.

The new national association is undertaking a program to publicize the route, to encourage each state to improve the highway within its bounds, to make a traffic count study and get every state touched by 50 to have its own association.

KILL WITH CARE

THE STORY: An extortion plot led to the murder of Police Chief Otto Drover in Colorado City. Banker Atwood, the extortion victim, had left $4000 wrapped in newspaper at an abandoned filling station. Detective Jim Dunn, a friend of Atwood's, found the body of Eddie Strong, son of Mayor Stone, at the filling station and deduced that the mentally defective had been led into participation in the crime. The police officers picked up Carl Hardin, a real estate man, for questioning.

XIV
CARL HARDIN talked. He too had received a "Wild Mare" note similar to Atwood's. He had been instructed to have $400 in small bills ready, waiting for r. o. e. instructions. He had thrown the note away, paid it no attention until he heard the news of the death of Chief Otto Drover. That made a big difference. The difference between a crank and a killer. He had begun to scurry around in an effort to raise the money.

"A minute," Richards demanded. "You didn't have the money?"
"Not in cash," Hardin admitted. "You know I have large real estate holdings. But you can't turn them into cash at a moment's notice."

"All right. How did you get the pay-off instructions?"
"By phone."

With the exception of the amount and the time of delivery, Hardin's instructions duplicated those received by Peter Atwood.

"I tried to tell this creature—a person who was talking to me—that I couldn't get the money by the time he'd set. He laughed at me. A horrible sound. He reminded me of Otto Drover's death."

Hardin shivered at the recollection, wet his lips before he went on. "So I went out and tried again to get the money. I borrowed a little here and there. Hooked my watch and my ring. By the time for the pay-off I'd raised only $240. I didn't know what to do. I was frantic. I didn't dare wait. I delivered the money I had with a note saying I'd bring the rest as soon as possible. I did. You—you saw me leaving North Hill after my second pay-off."

Jim Dunn let out his breath in a soft sigh. At least that explained why a pay-off had been made after the receiver was dead. Everything had been worked out on a tight schedule.

Dunn had no doubt there were many others in Colorado City who had made the trek to that deserted filling station with varying sums of money. The investigators of the plot had struck, had timed everything carefully, had collected, had killed to remove a danger point, and could now retire and wait. Jim died away in the back of his mind the fact that the extortionist had apparently been well acquainted here. Judging by two known instances, he had known the correct amounts to demand.

"THIS is Elmer Thorpe. Jim. He's the mail carrier who has the district around North Hill," Mark Richards said.

Jim said hello to Elmer Thorpe, who looked wind-blown, sun-scorched, and snow-blinded. He had bleached yellow hair and large teeth of exactly the same shade. He said he was proud to meet Mr. Jim Dunn.

"Jim, I wanted you to hear my story at first hand."

Jim nodded and let Mr. Thorpe recite. His method of delivery was that of a prepared speech or classroom recitation. Obviously he had given thought and practice to his words.

"I heard over the radio awhile ago, the midnight broadcast it was, about May's boy, Myrtle and I were listened to the radio and we heard it. Myrtle's wife. As soon as we heard, we started talking about it. I shouldn't come and tell what I seen. She told me you folks would be too busy to listen to what I had to say."

He waited until Mark Richards supplied the necessary cue. "Not at all."

Elmer Thorpe smiled. "Maybe it ain't so much after all, but I read once how every little bit of information is a help. So I came right over to tell the lieutenant here about Eddie Stone, about him playing garage." Mr. Thorpe lit a cigaret and hid it in a large hand so it appeared as if he were thumbing his nose every time he took a drag. "I deliver mail to old Mansfield's house. And to the mayor who lives there. So I've known Eddie for a good many years. We used to talk quite a lot and he'd sometimes walk along with me and I'd let him carry my sack. A nice boy, Eddie. Always cheerful and kind. People said mean things about Eddie, but people say mean things about all of us, I guess."

HE waited again, took a deep drag on his cigaret and emerged from behind his hand. "So one day, about a week ago I guess it was, or maybe a little more than that. Maybe 10 days or so. But anyway, Eddie was walking with me and he said, 'Mr. Thorpe,' because Eddie was always polite whatever nasty people said about him. 'Mr. Thorpe,' he says, 'can a person get mail anywhere if it's addressed to them right?' And I said, 'Well, Eddie,' I says, 'I don't see why not because that's the function of the U. S. mail.' So then he told me he wanted to get his mail at that old filling station on North Hill. You see, I cut across that way to the together the ends of my route. So I said, 'Why, Eddie, aren't you getting your mail all right at home?' I was going to laugh about that but he said he was serious. He said he was playing garage and wanted to get his mail at the old filling station. Some folks might think it funny for Eddie to still be playing and him a man grown almost, but I always got along good with Eddie."

Mid-Atlantic Work Slide Not Yet Bad

CHARLOTTE, N. C. (P)—Sales, jobs, production and profits are off today in the Middle Atlantic area—but, so far at least, the slide has been less than for the nation as a whole.

And most folk hereabouts have been living so high on the hog in recent years as the region's swift industrial expansion continued that they are almost cocky in their confidence that the present slight lull is a temporary one.

A few businessmen, however, are concerned because the usual spring pickup, although now slightly in evidence, isn't very perky as yet.

There are about 6 per cent fewer textile jobs in the area than a year ago. Work weeks in many of the mills are considerably shorter. But a slight seasonal pickup in orders of late encourages the mills to hope that the industry's slide, starting last summer, may be ending. So far it's mostly a hope, with some mills reporting the gain still not as big as it usually is at this time of year.

The Middle Atlantic area, or 5th Federal Reserve District, is composed of Districts of Columbia, North Carolina, South Carolina, Virginia, Maryland and part of West Virginia.

A leading Charlotte banker estimates that industrial production of all sorts in the Carolinas is off about 5 per cent from the peak—contrasted to the Federal Reserve Board's estimate of a 10 per cent drop for the entire nation.

The banker sees the decline in the Middle Atlantic showing signs of leveling off, with a possibility of a pickup by fall. Like most in this area he sees nothing but prosperity ahead once the adjustment is over.

Retail trade here may be off as much as 4 per cent, the banker says. But he thinks industrial profit margins will continue to shrink for a while, meaning hard times ahead for some marginal producers.

In areas hit by last summer's severe drought the retail drop is more than for the region as a whole, with tobacco growing sections particularly hard hit.

Building is holding up well, construction executives say. Commercial building and schools are giving the construction industry its chief jobs, as communities expand services to catch up with the big population growth that industrial expansion and rising standards of living have brought to the region since World War II.

Home building continues, but at a slower pace than last year. The price of older homes has turned noticeably downward.

Bankers are still lending on mortgages—having plenty of money to invest—but are casting a sharper eye on the borrower's source of steady income.

The end of overtime pay and a shrinking work week at many factories and mills have brought some collection problems, particularly in appliances sold on time. Used car dealers report an especially rough time moving their stocks, although some say the arrival of spring has helped.

Mills and factories here report their customers are giving smaller orders this year, but more frequent ones. That trend indicates both the merchant's desire to hold his own inventories low and the unquestioned return of the buyer's market.

But the general picture is one of confidence. The region is expecting more woolen and worsted mills to come this way. It feels sure its cotton and synthetic fiber mills have better days ahead.

And it's starting now to work hard for diversification of industry. Chemicals have already followed the textiles here. Electronics and metalworking plants are coming in, too, to brighten the outlook.

Black Panther Scare Proved False Report

LOS ANGELES (P)—The man who reported a black panther missing from his animal show has been charged with making a false report.

The black panther scare had hundreds of residents in the Los Angeles area in a dither week before last. The beast supposedly escaped from his cage shortly after Wayne Roberts' show started for Phoenix, Ariz.

"The whole story was a hoax," Police Chief William H. Parker said yesterday. "We were pretty certain of that from the first, but it has taken a lot of checking to substantiate it."

Scores of frightened citizens reported they had seen the black panther.

Chief Parker says Roberts concocted the whole story and kept it going so he could get a job as publicity man with a carnival.

Sentence Man For One Murder; He Admits Two

FLORENCE, S. C. (P)—A 38-year-old Negro escaped convict was sentenced yesterday to death in the electric chair for the murder of a youth whose body was found in a well with the severed head of his young girl friend.

An all-white jury was out 1½ hours before finding Raymond Carney guilty. At the end of the one-day trial, State Circuit Judge Steve C. Griffith set the execution May 7.

Police said Carney admitted the double slaying of H. B. Allen, 22, of Latta, and Betty Clair Cain, a pretty 15-year-old schoolgirl, near Pamplico. The couple disappeared while on a date Dec. 6.

The girl's headless body was found the following day. Two days later, Allen's body was found in a well three miles away. With it was the girl's head, wrapped in a coat.

Officers quoted Carney as saying he grew panicky while attempting to rob the couple as they sat in a parked car and shot them. Police said Carney told them he cut off the girl's head to prevent identification.

Carney was tried only for the Allen slaying. He had pleaded innocent. After the verdict, he said, "I ask only for mercy, that's all. There was no indication whether he would appeal."

Sheriff John Hanna testified Carney made his confession shortly after his capture near Johnsville Dec. 19 because "he wanted to get right with God."

Progress Reported For Radiation Care

KANSAS CITY (P)—Important progress in developing an effective treatment for atomic radiation sickness was reported today to the 125th national meeting of the American Chemical Society.

Encouraging results of experiments on mice suffering radiation injury was reported by Dr. R. K. Main, chief radiological chemist in the United States Naval Radiological Defense Laboratory in San Francisco.

Mice recovered from the effects of ordinarily fatal X-rays when they received injections of a "protective factor," obtained from the nucleus of spleen cells, immediately after exposure, Dr. Main said.

Travelers Must Brush Up On King's English

WASHINGTON (P)—With the tourist season hard upon us, it's time for those who are going abroad to get out their phrase books and try for a smattering of whatever foreign language they're likely to require. For Americans, that includes the English language. The King's English, that is, not the English we all speak.

You doubt English is a foreign tongue? All right, then, what does "prang" mean? Use "housey-housey" in a sentence. Tell us what an "erk" is and own up—no cribbing, now—whether you'd like some "Tottenham pudding" for dinner. These are English words, honest, though most of them are slang. You can find them—and a lot more you may need if you're London-bound—in a recently published book, "A Dictionary of New Words in English," by Paul C. Berg (Crowell, $2.95).

Berg, an Englishman, got together some thousands of the words which have come into common use since the 1900s. This shows how the world has changed in 20 years. Back in those innocent days "atom bomb" wasn't even in the dictionary.

Neither, for that matter, was "prang"—which turns out to be Royal Air Force slang for a successful bombing raid, or schoolboy slang for any feat, such as setting the headmaster's toupee on fire.

A really spectacular feat—setting the headmaster himself on fire—would be a "wizard prang," in modern Britain, as it filters into Berg's dictionary, a girl won't smack your face if you propose to play "housey-housey." She may not jump for joy, either, though, since "housey-housey" is a simple card game along the lines of lotto.

Much of the 20th-century English Berg has collected comes from World War II, which seems to have done to the language what the Allies did to Hitler. An "erk," for instance, is an Air Force recruit. A "foo" is "a critical spirit, believed by service men to be an invisible onlooker of all their doings."

And "Tottenham pudding"? Best turn it down, old boy, if someone suggests it for dessert. He's "having you on," as some Englishmen say. It's nothing but pig food.

Wallets Hold Slips For Race Betting

SAN FRANCISCO (P)—Curious because successive customers entered a Market street luggage store, carefully examined a display of wallets and left without purchasing anything, police moved in yesterday.

Inside the wallets police reported finding neatly arranged—a race to a wallet, a track to a row—betting slips and odds charts covering the major operating race tracks.

Owner George W. Young, 77, was booked on suspicion of book-making.

Scientist Has Hope Research Will Continue

CAMBRIDGE, Mass. (AP)—The industrial scientist may be whistling in the dark—but he thinks that management will go right on picking up the check.

The head of a leading research organization here says that research thinking has become imbedded in management's mind since World War II. Perhaps that's because research has paid some of industry's lushest dividends in new products and new industries. And when will American business need more of the same than in the months and years just ahead?

So the scientist says he sees little chance of any sizable slash in research funds by business as a whole, although some little companies might seize on that as a way to economize.

Industry spent 29 million dollars on research in 1920. Today the annual bill is around three billion dollars.

Research officials are inclined to scoff at the idea that the death of the excess profits tax will seem to make research dollars too costly, or that a drop in gross sales will do anything but make the marriage of competition and research the more binding.

They admit, however, that if sales drop enough to drain the till of cash, that would be a different story.

Here they do perhaps a sixth of all the nation's scientific research on which industry draws. And they export Yankee ingenuity literally around the world.

Raymond Stevens, vice president of the research organization Arthur D. Little, Inc., points out that it took two years before the big depression of the '30s affected research spending. And almost no one is predicting any such business drop this time. Smaller business cycles since the big one have had practically no effect on research spending, he says.

His organization, however, has had some calls in recent months from corporations asking it to appraise their own research departments in the light of a sales drop.

Marketing surveys are increasing as companies seek to improve their competitive position. Search for new products and for diversification of a company's activities is being spurred by the business downturn. The organization also has worked out development programs for whole areas, including New England after the textile industry sickened.

Richard S. Morse, president of the National Research Corp., which has helped develop new products, new companies and new industries, sees plenty of work yet to be done. "Plenty of 'adventure money' around for sound ideas, and no reason for a letdown in business spending along that line. But he does feel that government aid may become a delaying favor.

Trucker's Safe Driving Awards Win Court Case

ST. LOUIS (AP)—When police trailed Thomas Morrow to his home and arrested him on a charge of driving 45 miles an hour in a 30-mile-an-hour zone, he protested they had the wrong man.

Morrow, a truck driver, pleaded the same thing before City Judge Robert G. Dowd yesterday. To support his statement, he showed the judge six safe driving awards and a perfect driving record.

Judge Dowd was impressed. "I don't want to ruin your record," he said. "Because of your record I resolve the doubt in your favor. Not guilty."

Bob Thomas In Hollywood--

Disney Has Gone All Out In 'Leagues Under the Sea'

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Even Jules Verne couldn't have imagined what Walt Disney is doing with "20,000 Leagues Under the Sea."

The French novelist (1828-1905) dreamed up his most famous book in 1870, and it was the sensation of its time. It told of a fanatical scientist who roamed the ocean lanes in a huge submarine. No wonder the first atomic sub was named after the Nautilus of the book. Verne described his underwater craft as being run by the harness power of the universe.

Disney has converted the Frenchman's dream into vivid reality. This is Disney's most costly film, the bill being estimated upwards from three million dollars and as high as five million. After looking over the production, I can see where the money goes. Eight costly weeks were spent in shooting locations in Nassau and Jamaica, mostly underwater. A brand new stage was built on the Disney lot for a water tank to house Captain Nemo's sub and a huge, sponge-rubber squid which James Mason (Nemo) has named Zsa Zsa.

The interior of the sub is another expensive set. Such an underwater craft you have never seen before. The place is done in red Victorian plush with overstuffed chairs and sofas, a water fountain and even a pipe organ. The walls are lined with all kinds of books from bound copies of Punch to rare editions of Shakespeare.

The designers faced the problem of creating mechanisms that were practical yet in the Victorian period. The sub couldn't look like the cigar-shaped vessels of today. It has a rugged look that reminded me of a combination Merrimac and the Loch Ness monster.

Verne described his men as walking underwater without lifelines or other gadgets. Special suits were designed combining the features of a diving suit and aqualung.

Boat's Name Made Someone Burn It

TAMPA, Fla. (AP)—Did the name Joseph Stalin on a sponge boat make some Tarpon Springs citizens see red—red enough to burn up the boat?

That's the question Federal Judge William J. Barker has under advisement after hearing arguments in a civil suit yesterday.

The boat, owned by Nick G. Arfaras, was destroyed by fire at a Tarpon Springs boatyard the night of June 1, 1951.

Arfaras was paid $6,000 for his loss by the Detroit Fire and Insurance Co., which is now suing to recover that sum from Sarris Bros., Inc., operator of the boatyard.

The insurance company alleged that negligence by boatyard employees caused the loss.

Attorneys for the boatyard operator said residents at Tarpon Springs resented a boat named Joseph Stalin while this country was fighting Communists in Korea, and that Arfaras had been warned to change the name or keep a night watchman at the yard.

They said Arfaras, now dead, was not a lover of Stalin, but insisted on keeping the name which the boat had when he bought it.

Lonely? Don't Just Sit, Do Something

By DOROTHY ROE
AP Women's Editor

Lonely? Well, don't just sit there—do something!

That's the advice of Muriel Davis, a Chicago insurance executive who has become a sort of Pied Piper for American working girls.

She discovered a few years ago that some of the girls in her own office suffered from loneliness. She made some practical suggestions to them, and wound up as founder and president of Sigma Alpha Sigma, the working girls' sorority which now has a membership of 2,000 in 100 cities across the United States.

Miss Davis, an attractive career girl herself, works on the theory that the more interests and activities a girl has, the more chances she gets to meet new and interesting people.

Her first chapter started in Chicago with five members, whom she advised to go into various kinds of charity work, hold business and social meetings, plan vacation trips and so on.

Pretty soon the girls found they hardly had enough time to keep up with all their new activities, that their circle of friends had grown by leaps and bounds, and that other groups in nearby cities wanted to form their own chapters of the nonprofit organization.

Since its inception, members have made group trips to Hawaii, regular excursions to New York and Washington, and yearly trips to the Kentucky Derby. These are organized by Miss Davis, who contacts railroads, airlines and hotels and gets rock-bottom group rates. This year she will take 500 girls

Slams Front Door, Wall Collapses

GILLINGHAM, England (P)—Harry Danson slammed the door of his house behind him last night and the front wall collapsed onto the lawn.

The house was badly shaken by a near-miss bomb during World War II.

Whale Eludes Science

LA JOLLA, Calif. (P)—A scientific attempt to take the heart beat of a whale has failed again.

Dr. Paul Dudley White, Boston cardiologist, was assisted by Navy and University of California oceanographers in the try to get near enough to a gray whale to harpoon it with two 28-inch darts, from which it was hoped an electrical current would record the heart beat.

Soviet's High Command Gets New Members

NEW YORK (AP)—There is clear evidence the "collective" leadership of the Soviet Union—the Communist high command—has recently opened its exclusive circle to new membership.

This has been done without any public announcement.

At least one new man has been added to the list of top-level men the Soviet press calls "the leaders of the Communist party and the Soviet government."

Of particular interest is the fact that he is one of the leading figures in the machine of Nikita Khrushchev, the secretary general of the Communist party's Central Committee, whose star has been rising continually.

The man added to the inner circle is Alexei I. Kirichenko, a Ukrainian and the boss of that rich agricultural Soviet republic. His formal title is "first secretary of the Central Committee of the Communist party of the Ukraine."

Kirichenko was the No. 2 man in Kiev, the Ukraine's capital, until L. G. Melnikov was fired last June. Then Kirichenko took over Melnikov's job.

For just a month now Kirichenko has been uniformly listed among the leaders of the U.S.S.R., whose names are published in heavy black-faced type when they appear in public. As late as the beginning of February he was not on the list.

This means specifically that he has been selected secretly to the most powerful organ of the Soviet Union, the party's Presidium (formerly known as the Politburo). It is not yet known whether he has been named a full member of the Presidium or just a candidate member, without a vote.

But it looks very much as if he may have been made a full member and also that the head of the Soviet trade unions, N. M. Shvernik, and the boss of the Kazakhstan Communist party, P. K. Ponomarenko, may have been promoted from candidate members to full members.

These changes would bring the Presidium up to 12 members, the same number that made up Stalin's Politburo.

The general set-up of the present Presidium was organized in March 1953 after Stalin's death. Ten full members and four candidate members made it up.

The full members were G. M. Malenkov, V. M. Molotov, L. P. Beria, Khrushchev, K. E. Voroshilov, L. M. Kaganovich, N. A. Bulganin, A. I. Mikoyan, M. Z. Saburov and M. G. Pervukhin. The candidates were Shvernik, Ponomarenko, Melnikov and M. Bagirov.

Three of these men came to grief. Beria was shot as a traitor. Melnikov was fired and later made ambassador to Romania. Bagirov was purged in the Beria aftermath.

The leadership listings in the press also include three other names, at the end each time. They are the three secretaries of the Central Committee—M. Suslov, P. Pospelov and N. Shatalin. They bring what looks like the top group of Soviet leaders up to a total of 15.

Bob Thomas In Hollywood... Male-type Cheesecake Helps Make Tab Hunter a Favorite

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Tab Hunter was in a characteristic condition: mostly bare.

When I saw the bobbysox idol, he was doing a scene with Dorothy Malone in "Battle Cry." She was in a bathing suit, he in a pair of trunks.

"Honest—this is just an accident," he explained. "In most of the picture I have my clothes on."

Hunter, 22, is the latest young man to profit from what Hollywood calls "cheesecake," a form of publicity buildup that has helped send Kirk Douglas, Tony Curtis, Rock Hudson and others to stardom. It is the male counterpart of cheesecake. Young Tab is finally making the grade after one of the most unusual careers in recent Hollywood times. He became a celebrity without having a studio contract.

Virtually all the young heartbeats get the advantage of a buildup by the combined forces of a studio publicity department. Tab is the exception.

"People ask me who my press agent is," he says. "I have never had one."

His fame started when he was chosen to play the bare-chested hero of "Island of Desire" with Linda Darnell three years ago.

Blast Shoots Man Through Coal Chute

MONTGOMERY, Ala. (AP)—A termite exterminator was fired through a coal chute like a human cannonball yesterday when a boiler exploded.

Ray Jordan, 41, landed 40 feet away just shy of a concrete driveway, picked himself up and started running. He was hospitalized with burns, but his condition was reported to be good.

Fire Chief R. L. Lampley said the blast was believed to have been caused by an antitermite solution coming in contact with a pilot light in the boiler. Flames destroyed the one-story frame residence.

Stopper Is Disputed
READING, Pa. (AP)—You might be able to drive through the stop sign on North 13th St. here and not pay a fine.

You might have to take the matter to court though. The state said the stop sign was erected on a state highway without permission of the state.

Green as an actor, his performance was somewhat less than sterling. While the studios failed to flood him with offers, the fan magazine readers swooned over him. For three years, the fans kept his career alive although he played only in three quickies during that time.

"After I did 'Island of Desire,' I didn't get another picture for a whole year," he recalls. "The only work I had was a TV film for $500. But I didn't give up hope. I kept taking dictation lessons, studied voice and read plays aloud at least an hour every day."

"I took any picture that came along. One of them was shot in 11 days, another in 14. One was supposed to be made in seven, but we went back for retakes so many times that it added up to 20. It's too bad they didn't shoot that much in the first place; it might have ended up a good picture—except that the story was bad."

Tab's first big chance comes in Warners' "Battle Cry," taken from the best-selling novel of Marine Corps Life. If he proves successful, the studio can pick up his option for a term contract.

Get Air Force Men to Keeping Worn Out Bills

TOKYO (AP)—An Air Force Major entrusted with destroying wornout military currency and a former officer have been arrested for allegedly pocketing some $200,000 destined for the furnace, the Air Force announced tonight.

Maj. Thomas Pate of Los Angeles, under house arrest here, has helped recover most of the money. Far East Air Forces said. No charges have been filed against him.

The FBI in Washington identified the second man as Lowell A. Logan, 24, of Springfield, Ohio. Now a student at the University of Iowa, Logan was arrested Saturday at Iowa City. He pleaded innocent yesterday to a charge of embezzling $200,000 in federal funds.

Pate has been finance officer at Tachikawa air base 20 miles southwest of Tokyo.

The air force said he admitted swapping script of small denomination for bigger currency and then falsifying records to show that the bigger certificates had been destroyed.

The role allegedly played by Logan was not announced.

When arrested, the major was carrying $66,000 in U. S. currency. Military personnel in Japan are required to use only military script while on duty in Japan.

CIO Would Fight Its Own War With Reds

NEW YORK (AP)—The CIO Executive Board wants the government to stay out of the fight against possible Communist influence in labor unions.

Proposed laws for government screening to catch any Communists in unions would "certainly not help" the CIO's own fight against Communists, the board declared yesterday in a statement at the close of its quarterly meeting.

CIO President Walter P. Reuther later told a news conference "there is no magic formula" for getting rid of Communist elements "You've got to outwork them, outfight them and outvote them," he said.

The board said all proposed bills would require "government licensing of trade unions." It continued:

"We do not believe that the free trade union movement can exist under government licensing of unions any more than political freedom can exist under government licensing of political parties."

These proposed laws, the board added, would mean the end of the free trade union movement in America.

In his news conference Reuther opposed the 30-hour week sought by some CIO unions as a way to ease national unemployment.

A cut in the basic 40-hour week would simply mean "sharing the scarcity," the CIO president stated. He said the country's real need is for more purchasing power, not more leisure.

The 46-member Executive Board warned of a possible "full-blown depression."

"In face of present unemployment and declining production the Washington do-nothing, look-the-other-way policy is both dangerous and disgraceful," it said.

A program endorsed by the board to stimulate the economy proposed:
